THE TIMES.

FARMVILLE.

This is the best lighted town in the state. Our entire plant is one of the best and is in charge of experts. All this costs something but the corporation never made a better investment. Some men love darkness because their deeds are evil, but Farmville isn't of this class. Our stores are well lighted too, and so are our homes and churches. It must be admitted that Farmville prefers light to darkness.

This place has literally been glutted with tobacco of late and prices have been well maintained.

The farmers' association has been doing an active business too, while our commission merchants have been gathering in the sheaves. What a pity that farmers have to bring their tobacco to town over winter roads. This means heavy tax on teams though they are snugly cared for after reaching the warehouse stables. These tobacco growers, of southside Virginia are, I repeat, the finest fighters in earth's industrial ranks.

It seems to be conceded that Mr. Garnett will be our next postmaster He is a good business man and a good citizen.

'Col.' Bliss, so long a familiar figure on our streets, has secured a government appointment and is for the present living at Jarratt, where Mrs. Bliss has joined him.

Mrs. Wallace C. Barnett, of Washington, D. C. is at her old home recuperating from a long spell of illness.

Mr. and Mrs. John Berkley have gone to Berkley, to the regret of a large circle of friends.

The Normal machinery is in full motion and has entirely recovered from the Christmas interruption. The health conditions are excellent, and the warm attachments between scholars is beautiful. In the olden day scholars had but little love for their teachers. They were silly enough to imagine the teachers did'nt enjoy holidays. What a mistake. Saturdays and Sundays are more enjoyed by the tired teachers than by the restless scholars.

Our dry goods merchants are exhibiting spring prints and all our grocers are selling none but 'pure food.'

Neither styles, shapes nor quality ever change at the dispensary.

The banks recently established at major business centres throughout our section seem to be doing well. Ten per cent dividend the first year and a snug surplus make a good showing.

I am glad to see that Mr. T. O. Sandy, whose model farm is part in Prince Edward and part in Nottoway, has been engaged to teach the farmers of Virginia how to farm. He knows how to manage Virginia lands and can tell others the secret of success and then, he is a Virginia gentleman, a good neighbor, thy patriotic citizen and one 'who fears God and keeps his commandments.'

We begin to have a new conception of what an ornament the new Methodist church building will be when completed.

Farmville seconds the suggestion that all hangings be done within the penitentiary enclosure. It is getting altogether too common sitting for the comfort of our people And yet some people will be ambitious enough to witness it. Sheriff Dickinson will see to it, however, that their curiosity is not gratified. There are fresh rumors as to the probability of a new railroad, but no one talks of a new boom.

The Farmville Coal & Iron Co. seems now as a frightful nightmare New York would have been a babies contrast if Farmville had spread herself as in the boom times hopeto. There are some of us however still living who enjoyed the excitement and indulged the hope of being millionaires.

Mr Frank Johns, of Buckingham who has been ill at his father's home for some time, has returned to Hampden Sidney and resumed his studies.

President McAllister has returned from Atlanta where he went to deliver three addresses on important occasions. That the work was well done need not be said to those who have heard him. He is an orator of rare gifts and never touches a subject that he does not adorn.

Hon. Don P. Holsey, of Lynchburg, at Hampden Sidney on the Lee Memorial day, made an elegant and most impressive speech.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Venabl have gone to Kentucky to make their home

Prof. Jones, of the Normal faculty, who is delivering a series of lectures at Hampden-Sidney, is giving great satisfaction to the student body.

Mrs. Wade is visiting her daughters, who are teaching the one in North Carolina and the other in South Carolina. The influence of our Farmville girls is being felt the country over.

Dr. Millsclop, of the Normal faculty delivered the address on the occasion of the Lee Centennial, and Miss Charlie Jones an appropriate poem. Miss Harrison, assistant teacher of mathematics in the school entertained a number of her young friends at Mrs. Talbott's last Saturday evening.

Mr. George Richardson has recently been to Washington looking after lovely lost children.

Miss Chambrin, a gifted and distinguished writer, of New York City, has been with us of late. She feels tender interest in one of our old homesteads, formerly the home of Mr Dunnington, now owned by Mr. Barlow, where are buried many of her ancestors. She intimated that she might buy it and make extensive improvements.

Dr. Wm. Jennings, an old Farmville boy and a graduate of Hampden Sidney, is now located in Washington where he is making great reputation as a 'christian scientist' and 'healer.' His mother, Mrs. Alice Jennings is a convert to the faith and lives with him. Healing by prayer rather than by physic is rather convenient and one dollar a call we get 'real sick' we send for the doctor. That is true of many of us as we are satisfied that the day of miracles is over.

If Mr. Bugg, our present, worth postmaster, is retired to hang over the keys to another he will do it in official career and an office clean and correct from beginning to ending. No government ever has more conscientious or more faithful servant.

The organ recital at the Presbyterian church netted some eighty odd dollars.

Christmas and New Year Holiday Excursions via Southern Railway.

On December 20th and 25th, including December 26th and 31st, 1906, and January 1st, 1907, the Southern Railway will sell special excursion tickets to and from points on its lines at reduced rates; return limit Jan. 7th, 1907.

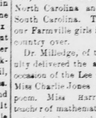
Over-Work Weakens Your Kidneys.

When the Kidneys Make Impure Blood



All the blood in your body passes through the kidneys once every three minutes. The kidneys are your only defense, they filter the waste or impurities from the blood. If the kidneys sick or out of order they fail to do this work, poisonous impurities accumulate in the blood, which come from excessive uric acid in the blood. Uric acid is the most poisonous substance in your body to-day. Kidney trouble causes quick or unsteady heart beats, and makes one feel as though any had heart trouble because the heart's over-working in pumping thick, kidney poisoned blood through the veins and arteries.

It used to be considered that only chronic troubles were to be traced to the kidneys but modern science proves that nearly all constitutional diseases have their beginning in kidney trouble.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases, and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free of charge. Also pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Female Weakness

"Last Fall," writes Mrs. S. G. Bailey, of Tunnelton, W. Va., "I was going down by inches, from female disease, with great pain. After taking Cardui, Oh! My! How I was benefited! I am not well yet, but am so much better that I will keep on taking Wine of Cardui till I am perfectly cured."

Despite the envious attacks of jealous enemies and rivals, Cardui still holds supreme position today [as in the past 70 years] for the relief and cure of female diseases. It stops pain, tones up the organs, regulates the functions, and aids in the replacement of a misplaced organ.

Many Interesting Reports Made of Her People.

ONE YEAR.

I have taken one year of my life and laid it away,
The year that was brightest and fairest,
And there in the tomb did the dust and decay
I have put flowers and perfumes the rarest,
And around it the halo of glory that past
Shines dim in the charnel house gloom,
And my tearcare falling thick and fast,
On the lid of my buried year's tomb.

"Year," I said, when it came,
Looking out from the fire's flame,
Bringing memories of the past,
Happy days that could not last,
"Year," I said, "you haunt me so,
That I fain would say you low
To a tomb so dark and deep
Naught shall wake you from your sleep,
And the memories that you bring
Of summer skies, and laughing spring,
Everything that's rich and great,
I will lay with your fate.
Ices, from everything I'll part,
If you will leave free my heart.
And this little bird that's dead.
With it's tiny wings outspread,
I shall lay upon your breast
As a sign that all things best
Fade away upon your wing.
As no more of hope you sing.
Then, oh year, I said, you are dead,
Come no more with mocking tread,
Let me no more hear your feet
Stealing through the gloaming sweet.

In the mountain's side a grave I'll make,
And with iron bars I'll close it
So that therein no one will break
Or to the world expose it.
And the tears you have wrung from my aching breast
Shall gleam in your midnight hair,
Like pearls the rarest and the best,
As you lay in your cold tomb's mountained lair,
So I left my year alone in its tomb.

Never dreaming that under the skies
It could escape from the mountain's gloom
With the cold t me light in its eyes,
And bring in its hand the cold, dead bird
That I had left on its breast asleep,
And still on its lips the old time word
That hath caused me sore to weep.

Yet now as I sit in the twilight's gleam,
And of other things am beginning to dream,
My year I thought looked for ee in the tomb
Came softly out from the shadow and gloom
And on its lip the half spoken prayer,
The grave dust still on its robe and hair.
Oh year, I said, why did you wake?
I buried you deep, you've come to take.
Why did you not stay in the grave away,
Until called forth on the Judgment day?
Then every accusation you could make,
But now, oh year, my heart will break."

"No," answered the year mocking and low,
"Your heart with me forever must go.
Nothing apart from me shall your heart ever know.
For it is mine forever and ever more."
"Oh year," I said, "I will, there no drink
That stooping down to its crystal brink
And drinking long of it slightly deep
Will cause memory forever to sleep"
"No," said the year, "the heart can never forget,
What it hath loved must stay with it yet
Till death shall set its seal on your brow"
Then it whispered low, "I shall stay with now."

"Never, oh year," I cried aloud,
"You must go back to the grave,
Go the dust still on your shroud,
And in your hand the bird I gave."
Then tearing my heart from my bleeding breast,
I threw it at the feet of my cruel year.
"There, take that with you to rest
In your mountain grave so dear.
And back to the mountain's dear
I hurried m
And now she lies in her tomb in state,
With my bleeding heart on her bier,
And lying there is the little bird
With its tiny wings outspread,
And never more will its song be heard,
For its heart is dead.

So I buried my year again tonight
In the mountain's fastness there
And you can never bring it to sight
Though mine for gold are lucets rare,
For I locked the door and barred it well.
On my year the bird and my heart,
And there is nothing now the story to tell
Of how my year and I did part.

OLA RAINES.
Red House, Va.

Buckingham.

A mad dog scare was general in the neighborhood of Alcoma the past week; a dog owned by Morris Christian started on his mad career, biting a pig at Joe Johnson's house, and biting the dogs on the road leading to this place, but when he arrived here Mr. F. H. Spencer killed him.

An exhibit of drawing done by the pupils of the public schools of Buckingham will be put in the educational department at James-town. A prize has been offered for the best drawing, and the pupils of the high school here are doing some very nice work under the instruction of Miss Fannie Fitzgerald. I hear of a number of young people who will avail themselves of the fine opportunity for learning afforded in the High school, as soon as the sessions of the district schools are out. Misses Wood, Stinson, Charleton, Forbes, Oliver and Oavell are already boarding and going to school here. Notice has been given the school board that the Prudential Insurance company, which started business in Tazewell county, Va. has failed. The agent of the defunct company hopes to be able to pay back all unearned money paid the company by policy holders.

The report of the state auditor for the year ending September 30, 1906, contains some interesting figures, for instance Buckingham and Appomattox counties report only $35 and $77.25 respectively as income, the State requires a tax of one per cent on all income in excess of $600. Several of our citizens are credited with wealth of many $100,000 but may be they do not list their income in Buckingham. This county lists 464 watches valued at $3852 or nearly $8 each. The citizens of Appomattox list 447 watches valued at $3058 or less than $7 (seven) each. Richmond city only lists 911 watches valued at $26140, but she pays more income tax than all the counties combined. Stafford county pays the smallest income tax of any county, while a dozen counties report no income tax at all.

I do not think I mentioned Mr. Robt. B. Shaw or his son W. E. Shaw among the citizens of this place who have passed away since I could remember. Mr. Robert Shaw was probably the best informed man on the past history of the county, of any citizen of his day, indeed he was an authority, and he was very genial and pleasant as a companion. His youngest son, W. E. Shaw was a very intelligent young man. He was well read, and was himself a very entertaining writer and a most excellent penman. There are several other men whom I remember to have seen here in my day, but did not have much of an acquaintance with most of them and probably could not do justice to their memory, and so now I have closed this feature of my writing and will henceforward treat only of live men, and live issues.

It is a great surprise to many people that flour should continue so low. I see some of the brands are selling for $4.30 a barrel. No one can afford to pay even 75 or 80 cents for wheat and have it ground in the local mills, corn too is much lower than expected, and lower than an Appomattox or a Buckingham farmer can raise for, if he has to pay the prices that are demanded by laborers now.

A valley man who has moved here says that a man cannot pay over $12 a month for farm hands and make anything.

A little cabin occupied by old aunt Emily Jeems near this place was burned one night last week and only a few of her clothes were saved.

If Greater Richmond finds she cannot raise that $200,000 why does she not mention the matter to her country cousins? We, yes we country folks kept the yankees out of town for nigh on to four years at last 'Uncle Van' and the balance of Lee's 'unlearables' did and we are good for most any emergency.

A writer in one of our city dailies says "The Edenic idea of the home is still the idea needed in these times," and again as the old chroniclers say, "woman was not made from man's feet to be his slave, nor from his head to rule over him, but from his side near his heart to be his comrade and cohelper." There is a simple dignity about the Genesis narration of the purpose and relationship of man and woman that rebukes the common frivolity and sentimentality with which this subject is commonly regarded. The reporters still tell of numerous cases in the divorce courts. Indeed the marriage ties are broken now on such flimsy grounds and the injunction, "whom God hath joined together let not man put asunder" is so little regarded that we are led to believe that the "Edenic idea" is no longer in vogue in this the ninety age of the 20th century. There are many exceptions however, for we have a lot of well mated couples in our midst, indeed they obey many of the scriptural injunctions, but some are not fruitful, de not multiply nor replenish the earth

An officer of the law and an officer of the Buckingham Bank have been wanting to find a man who is charged with getting some money from the Bank by crooked means. The whole story of the affair will come out in next week's issue, giving the names, amount of money involved, and the status of the case as then developed.

There have been three more deaths caused by pneumonia in our mid t the past week.

One of Mr. Willis Baird's daughters, Mr. Vick Holman's oldest son, and Mr. Powhatan Banton were victims. Mr. Banton was the father of the young man whose death was reported last week and another one of the boys, Cleveland Banton, was ill with pneumonia Saturday when his father was buried. Mrs. N. F. Ellis was also extremely ill on Sunday morning and all of her children were at her bed side. Mrs W. E. Pratt was still confined to bed at her home in Farmville by sickness when last heard from.

The meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society was postponed until next Saturday, the 9th.

Mrs. Delia Ellis, the principal of the colored school has been staying in Richmond, where she had sickness in her family.

Rev. Ceasar Perkins preached at the New Chapel on his farm on Sunday, the 3rd.

Mrs. Mary A. Staples died at her home in New Canton on the 27th January.

Restoration of Red Hill.

Col. Ja. Lyons, of Red Hill, is in the city on law business. He says that Charles Baron Keen and Frank Mead, his associate in the colonial renaissance of America have done a wonderful work at Red Hill, the home of Patrick Henry, the great orator of the American Revolution of 1776. Without expating in any wise from the lines of the old house which Henry loved so well, and where he died, they have restored the old homestead to the primitive glory, and now the traveler passing the junction of the Tidewater and the Lynchburg and Durham Railways, about two miles south of Brookneal, can see from the car windows the home of the old Revolutionary patriot in the distance on the summit of Red Hill, like some ancient English abbey or monastery.

Col. Lyons remarked that when the late Major Peter J. Otey was the president of the Lynchburg and Durham railroad, of which he was the engineer and constructor, he gave orders that all the engineers should toll the bells of their engines when passing the grave of Henry, the first Governor of Virginia, and as all the steamboats passing Mt. Vernon on the Potomac, salute the grave of Washington, the first President of the United States.—Lynchburg News.

Holman—Kyle.

The marriage of Miss Annie Julia Kyle, the daughter of the late W. S. Kyle, of Buckingham county, to Mr. George Randolph Holman, was a celebrated Wednesday morning at the home of the groom's uncle, Mr. J. T. L. Woodson 112 Randolph Street, Richmond. The Rev. Samuel Colonna, pastor of Park Place, M. E church officiating.

The parlors were beautifully decorated with palms and cut flowers. Miss Sallie Woodson, cousin of the groom was maid of honor and wore a lo ely gown of pink mull and carried pink roses.

The beautiful and attractive bride entered with her maid of honor, and was met at the improvised altar by the groom attended by his best man, Dr. G. C. Woodson The bride wore a gown of soft white silk, in princess, with ruffles of lace, a tulle veil, held with a pearl crescent, and carried bride's roses

The ceremony was followed by a luncheon, after which Mr. and Mrs. Holman left for a bridal tour, and on their return will make their future home in Buckingham county, the groom being one of the most successful, young farmers in that section.

On account of recent bereavement in the bride's family, invitations were not issued.

Southside.

His "hogship" had an alright day to see his shadow, and we suppose he returned to his snug winter quarters and left us poor mortals to contend with regular "ground hog weather," for the next seven weeks It looks today as if he would prove a true prophet. The very changeable weather of the past six weeks has been productive of almost an epidemic of colds and la grippe.

Misses Edna and Bessie Coleman have been on the sick list the past week

Nearly all the members of Mr. F. W. Odor's family have been sick

Miss Mamie Holyeross of Hurtsville is visiting her brother, Mr. Robert Holyeross, of Lynchburg.

Messrs. Robert Wright and Geo. F. Coleman and little Miss were the guests of Mrs. T. A. Coleman Sunday. Also Messrs. Dan and Blenchard Ferguson.

In a recent visit to the hustling town of Evergreen, your correspondent was pleased to no e many sign of incoasing thrift and prosperity several new houses have been built, others have been painted and improved, and altogether the little town presents quite an attractive appearance. Here, as elsewhere, the proposed new route of the N. & W. is being discussed. We were amused at the genial agent of the N. & W. He said, "I do not suppose Evergreen could be hurt much, whichever way it goes, as most of the land around here was only made to hold the world together anyway.'

We missed the pleasant smile and cordial greeting of Mr. Jack Staples, former manager of the Evergreen Supply Co. We hear he has accepted a lucrative position in the Hill City. May he be prosperous and successful wherever his lot is cast.

Mr. C. A. Warren has an extra smile now. Caused we suppose by the arrival of the wee girlie that has come to his home.

We were sorry to hear of the illness of Mr. J. D. Coleman's horse.

Mrs. Edmund Cawthorn is just back from a pleasant visit to relatives and friends in Bellevue and and Roanoke.

How to Avoid Pneumonia

We have never heard of a single instance of a cold resulting in pneumonia or other lung trouble when Foley's Honey and Tar has been taken It not only stops the cough, but heals and strengthens the lungs. Ask for Foley's Honey and Tar and refuse any substitute offered. Dr. C. J. Bishop of Agnew Mich., writes: "I have used Foley's Honey and Tar in three very severe cases of pneumonia with good results in every case."
